

From Pikeville, Kentucky, take Route 460 East toward Grundy, Virginia, and remain on Route 460 past Richlands until the intersection of Route 460/Route 19. Take Route 19 South (you will see signs pointing to the right for Southwest Virginia Community College). This intersection is located in an area called Claypool Hill, and from that point the college is approximately 6 miles south on Route 19. We are on the left-hand side of the road. Enter at the main entrance (stone sign).

From Charleston, West Virginia, take I-77 South. You have two options: you can either get off at Princeton and take Route 460W/19S straight to the Claypool Hill area, where you continue straight on Route 19 South 6 miles to the college, or at Princeton you can go a little farther on I-77 and get off at Bluefield (before the East River Mountain tunnel). Take Route 52 (an access road) to the Route 460/19 intersection, and then continue to the Claypool Hill area. It is approximately 50 miles to the college from the Bluefield/Princeton area.

From the Roanoke, Virginia area, take Route 460 West in Christiansburg to Princeton, West Virginia, where you take I-77 South to Bluefield. Before reaching the East River Mountain Tunnel, take exit #1, and turn right onto Route 52 (this is an access road leading to Route 19/460). At the end of the access road, turn left onto Route 19/460 towards Tazewell. Continue past Bluefield and Tazewell, to the small community of Claypool Hill. At the stoplight in Claypool Hill the highway divides. Continue straight on 19 South. The College is approximately six miles from the stoplight, and on the left side of the road.
